

Why attend?
Come to learn...
about yourself
about God's charge to comfort others!

Do you sometimes struggle to make sense of your own suffering? Do you desire a greater intimacy with the God of all comfort? Are you hungry to reach into the lives of suffering people? Do you believe you are fully ministering His comfort to those people God sends your way? Do you sometimes feel unprepared to reach across the wall of pain you discern in others?

Spend some time with other women who are seeking answers to these same questions. Learn practical Biblical teaching about suffering and God's unique comfort. Grow and challenge yourself to offer His comfort more effectively to others.

God requires that we offer His comfort to His suffering people. Are you obeying His call?

Jennifer N. Foster is an author, lay counselor, and teacher whose call is to meet people "where they're at" and show them how the practical application of God's word can bring reconciliation and deliverance into their lives. Lost in the world for most of her life and seeking salvation in sin, Jennifer's testimony demonstrates that God's light can permeate the darkest of places. With an authentic and approachable style, she challenges us to fully expose ourselves to the transforming power of God's word.

Jennifer resides in Martinsburg, West Virginia, with her husband Gregory, and their children, Joe and Sophie. They are members of Destiny Baptist Church where she shepherds the Faithful Friends Ministry. Jennifer holds a B.A. in Sociology from the University of Massachusetts at Dartmouth and is currently studying for her Masters in Marriage & Family Therapy at Liberty University in Lynchburg, Virginia.
